

The Lancaster Gazette.

CLARKE, KOOKEN & SUTPHEN, EDITORS & PROPRIETORS.

OFFICE
Tailor Shop—Third Story—to the Left at the Head of the Stairs.

CITY OF LANCASTER:
THURSDAY, : : NOV. 15th, 1890.

Good for December just received by Mr. Billingshurst at the News Office.

The concert of the Continentals at the City Hall on Tuesday evening last was attended by a large audience. The selections were rare and well performed.

Notice.—Baptist Church—Sunday morning next services at half past 10.
Subject—A Home Question. Sabbath School and Bible Class as usual. Evening services at half past 6. Subject—Sins Stain. On Wednesday evening next the Rev. E. BARNHAM will preach. All are respectfully invited to attend.

E. F. STRICKLAND.

As will be seen in another column,
Geo. W. Little has opened a Notion, Grocery and Provision Store in the room formerly occupied by Gianni, where he desires to see all his old friends and customers. "Nan-e-e" is the price of good fellows, and deserves a liberal share of public patronage.

THUNK MANUFACTORY.—Mr. C. L.
Watts has opened an establishment of this kind, on the east side of Columbus Street, a few doors south of Main, where he will keep constantly on hand a large lot of trunks of every description. He invites the special attention of the ladies, and will make to order on the shortest notice anything in the trunk line. He will also make to order and repair harness in a style not to be surpassed. Give him a call. Advertisement next week.

The adjourned session of the Oct.
term of Fairfield County Common Pleas is now in session. The docket is light, owing, of course, to the fact that the principal business of the term was disposed of in October.

On Monday the case of the State vs.
John Goodman, for burglary was tried.— Verdict—Not guilty. This was the only criminal case tried. The civil business without interest.

ELECTION NEWS.
Nothing has been heard since our last issue, to change the result as then announced. LINCOLN and HAMLIN are elected, having received 178 electoral votes.
Breckinridge carries the entire South, with the exception of Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri, which have gone for Bell.
Virginia for a long time in doubt is now certainly for Breckinridge.

All the free States except New Jersey, are for Lincoln by large majorities.
Burlington of Boston, Massachusetts, Pennington of New Jersey are defeated.
The next House will probably stand Republican 110, Opposition 127.

We much regret not being able to give as yet the official vote of this county, the returns were sent up and sent to the Secretary of State, as required by law.

The great struggle between freedom and slavery is ended. The triumph is on the side of freedom. The victory is as complete as the conflict was terrible. In the majesty of their sovereign power the people have vindicated their principles, have wrested the government from the grasp of the slave power. From the 4th of March next, its energies will be devoted to the advancement of freedom rather than the extension and perpetuation of human slavery. From a power in the hands of the few, wielded for the exclusive benefit of a class, it will, in the providence of God, become an instrument in the hands of the people, devoted to the promotion, the welfare and happiness of the whole country. With the incoming of the next Administration will come the outgoing of the replies that have for eight years been sapping the foundations of the government. The vampires that have so remorselessly drank the nation's blood, will be stricken off; the conduits and sluiceways of the government, running brim full of corruption and dishonesty, will be broken up and their channels cleansed and purified by the influence of honest principles and pure motives.

Dr. Wisk, the well known Lurg, Eye and Ear Physician, and who gave such general satisfaction in the treatment of all chronic complaints that he gave attention to in former visits to our city, may be consulted at the Cook House till the 27th of Nov. The Doctor desires all who intend availing themselves of his advice and treatment to do so at an early date as possible, that he may have more time to cure and render satisfaction. He treats all respiratory diseases by medicated inhalation.

If there is one thing more than any other which has given universal satisfaction, it is Chamberlain's Balm. It has relieved more misery and human suffering in this country, than we are any of us prepared to estimate. Don't be without it.

The Lancaster Literary Institute will meet at the Mayor's Office, at 7 o'clock, to-night.
Question for Discussion—Resolved, That the human race is the offspring of a common ancestry. Foreman—R. M.
CLARKE and J. B. McNEILL.
The citizens are respectfully invited to attend.
A. P. MILLER,
JOHN WILLIAMS, Ch'man. Sec'y.

Two Days Later from Europe.

ARRIVAL OF THE CANADA.

HALIFAX, Nov. 13.—The Daily News publishes the text of the dispatch of Lord John Russell to the British Minister at Turin, dated Oct. 27th. It says the great questions which appear to the British Government to be at issue are these:— Were the people of Italy justified in asking assistance of the King of Sardinia to relieve them from a government with which they were discontented?

Russell says: "The government does not feel justified in declaring that the people of Southern Italy have not good reason for throwing off their allegiance, and cannot there blame the King of Sardinia for their disaffection."

The dispatch closes as follows, "Her Majesty's Government will turn their eyes rather to the gratifying prospects of the people building up an edifice of their liberties, with the sympathies and good wishes of Europe."

It was believed in Paris that the object of France in preventing the blockade of Gaeta by sea, was merely to facilitate the escape of the King of Naples, and prevent the complications which would be the result of his capture.

The French journals offer no explanation.

The Bouria was firm at 69 1/2, 35c.

ITALY.—According to Neapolitan accounts, Gen. Cialdini was beaten with great loss at Garigliano. Some dispatchers place his loss as high as 2,000 killed and wounded, and 5 guns taken.

Official dispatches from Turin say that these assertions are completely false, the Sardinians not being defeated at all.

Capua was attacked on the 1st inst., and capitulated on the following day. The Neapolitans were allowed to leave with the honors of war, laying down their arms, and were to go to Naples on the 3d. Naples illuminated, and there was great rejoicing. An attack on Gaeta was sharply expected. Victor Emanuel had crossed the Garigliano.

TURKEY.—It was reported that the Government was about to negotiate a loan of £18,000,000 at Paris at 5 1/2. A national forced loan was also spoken of.

Great financial fluctuations were occur-ing in Constantinople.

The India and China mails are aboard the C. Canada.

The French version says that on the 21st the allies, after a vehement resistance carried by assault the most important of the Taker Forts. Two hundred French and two hundred English were put hors de combat. One thousand Takers were killed and found in the fort, among whom was the General-in-Chief. The other forts surrendered successively the same evening.

The capitulation gave the Allies the whole country as far as Tien Sien, and six hundred brass guns of large calibre.

The Ambassadors met at Tien Sien, where the Chinese Commissioners attended them to opine negotiations.

It was reported that the Ambassadors were soon to proceed to Peking with a cavalry escort.

The China Tea market was dull.

The London money market was quiet and steady. The China news had no effect on consols. Money was unchanged, but the continued withdrawal of gold from the bank, led to the expectation that the bank minimum was soon to be raised, possibly next week.

The Africa was at Queenston on the afternoon of the 4th inst.

MARRIED.
On the 7th inst. by the Rev. H. Lange Mr. Joseph Ben, of Logan and Miss Mary M. Linn, of this city.

With the above "notice" came a profuse quantity of cake and a bottle of most excellent wine, for which the printers are indebted to the groom and fair bride.— Long may you live to enjoy the blessed sweets of matrimony.

On the 4th inst. by the Rev. Thomas Drake, Mr. WILLIAM CARESMAN and Miss MARY ANN SMITH, both of this county.

On the 25th ult., by the same, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mr. Thos.
Bright and Miss Mary Shaffer, both of this county.

On the 25th ult., by the same, Levi Bouwers and Miss Lucinda Miller, both of this county.

On the 30th ult., by the same, at the residence of the bride's mother, Harry Bachman and Miss Julia Myers, both of this county.

On the 5th inst., by Rev. Samuel Carpenter, WILLIAM L. JEFFRIES and CAT-ARINE L. daughter of G. S. Williams, all of this county.

On the 25th ult., at the residence of Mr. John Myers, in Dumontville, by the Rev. F. T. Tuthers, Jesse Brumbaugh and Miss Nancy Jane Myers, all of this county.

OBITUARY.

DIED.—On Monday morning, Nov. 5, CHARLES F. ELDESTON of Mr. T. E. El-linghurst of this city. He was taken a sudden in his early youth, being but 11 years old the 10th of last September—yet already had shown evidences of unusual ability of character. He was a good boy, of very studious and inquiring disposition, preferring always the society of older people, from whom he could learn something, to that of those of his own age.
His parents feel that, while they mourn for him, they can yet say with the Suidante woman, "It is well with the child."

"Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the North wind's breath,
And trees to shed their leaves, O Death!"

IT is wonderful how soon a valuable remedy known as Dr. S. O. Richardson's Cherry Wine has become so well known to the leading physicians of the city, and all who use it pronounce it valuable.

Dr. S. O. Richardson, Ohio, July 20th, 1888.
Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have
sold Dr. S. O. Richardson's Cherry Wine for several years, and can cheerfully recommend them to the public as a medicine of decided merit in all cases of general debility, dyspepsia, liver and stomach troubles, etc. Yours truly,
J. W. HUNT, Druggist,
Said by Sifford & Sturgeon.

Dr. S. O. Richardson, Ohio, July 20th, 1888.
Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have
sold Dr. S. O. Richardson's Cherry Wine for several years, and can cheerfully recommend them
to the public as a medicine of decided merit in all cases of general debility, dyspepsia, liver and
stomach troubles, etc. Yours truly,
J. W. HUNT, Druggist,
Said by Sifford & Sturgeon.

Dr. S. O. Richardson, Ohio, July 20th, 1888.
Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have
sold Dr. S. O. Richardson's Cherry Wine for several years, and can cheerfully recommend them
to the public as a medicine of decided merit in all cases of general debility, dyspepsia, liver and
stomach troubles, etc. Yours truly,
J. W. HUNT, Druggist,
Said by Sifford & Sturgeon.

Dr. S. O. Richardson, Ohio, July 20th, 1888.
Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have
sold Dr. S. O. Richardson's Cherry Wine for several years, and can cheerfully recommend them
to the public as a medicine of decided merit in all cases of general debility, dyspepsia, liver and
stomach troubles, etc. Yours truly,
J. W. HUNT, Druggist,
Said by Sifford & Sturgeon.

The Student's Apology.

Many years ago, in one of the older colleges, there were many rats as well as students. The bell-ringer passed through the upper floors, and the end of it hung down in the chapel, near the partition wall that separated the chapel from the other apartments. There was a knot in the lower end of the rope, and a tassel appended to it. The junior had placed two large chairs against the wall, and the bell-ringer hung between them. One morning a student laughed in time of prayer, and, as a matter of course, was called to account for it. The faculty after hearing his excuse, required an apology in writing. The offence had been public, and the apology must be public also. The student retired, and in a short time returned with the following:

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint
thing as a rat, for near these chairs
I saw a rat, for water stains,
I saw the rope to get to prayer;
And having run the perilous rope,
He looked around and seemed devout:
He looked short, then, as though in doubt
Whether to stop or hurry on;
Since from their knees men were most happy
To kill poor rats with rage and fury,
He seemed to reason, fast and sure,
The wiser way to escape attack,
For just before the prayer were ended
He seized the rope and re-ascended."

"I could not laugh at such a quaint thing as